Deliverables

Homework: Ex __ - __

Various assignments will be completed from the book and turned in via link or file upload.

Case Study: Case Study __ - __

The Case Study instructions can be found under the handouts section on the main page of this course.

Students will complete case study assignments in assigned groups using the following code review processes.

Code Reviews:

- Create a new issue for each requirement in your assignments.
 - Assign user to each requirement
 - For larger issues, you may assign 2 users. Both should be completing equal work.
 - Write title/description for each issue that details what needs to be done
- Create a new Branch
 - Each user will create their own branch for the issue(s) they're completing.
- Make changes and add Commits
 - Write the code for the part you are working on, then commit to your branch.
 - Do NOT commit to master right directly.
- Open a Pull Request
 - Once you are finished with your branch, open a pull request to merge with master
 - Do NOT merge until the code review with your group.
- Review
 - During the code review, you will review each pull request with your group and the code in it to ensure it will work with your project.
 - You should be addressing any potential issues/conflicts. Be sure to check for naming schemes.
- Merge
 - Merge branches once approved
 - Close the action/issue that you solved
- Repeat
 - You may need to go back and rework some of your code before merging. Be sure to bring this up at the next code review

Institutional Policies

Course Subject to Change

The syllabus is a statement of intent and schedule of topics, activities, assessments, and requirements as well as an overall road map to ensure students will achieve both the course learning objectives and the program-level learning objectives.

The scheduled educational activities are subject to change with reasonable advance notice to students by either the instructor or academic administration. The grading and attendance policies are not subject to change once posted.

During campus closures, the dynamic nature of our learning environment supports the possibility of remote learning days. In such instances, instructors will demonstrate flexibility, providing necessary support to ensure students can actively engage in coursework while accommodating individual circumstances. Clear communication and understanding will be prioritized to maintain the quality of education.

Students wishing to appeal changes to a course syllabus must first do so in writing to their instructor. If a successful resolution is not achieved after submitting the written appeal, the student has the option to file a written appeal to the appropriate Associate Dean of Curriculum and Instruction or Dean of Curriculum and Instruction. If the second level appeal does not result in a resolution, the student can submit a final appeal to the Vice President of Academic Affairs. The review and final decision of the Vice President of Academic Affairs is final and not subject to appeal.

Attendance

Administrative Withdraw for Non-Attendance

Students are expected to attend all sessions of courses for which they are enrolled. Absences do not excuse the student from meeting course requirements. Each instructor will evaluate the student's progress to determine how to handle outstanding assignments and assessments. Students attending 16 week courses who have a record of zero attendance for fourteen (14) calendar days will be administratively withdrawn from the course(s) the absence is occurring, resulting in a grade of "W" for the course. Students attending courses of less than a 16 week duration, who have a record of zero attendance for seven (7) calendar days will be administratively withdrawn. Students who receive financial aid may have their financial aid status affected. More information is located in the Southeast Tech Catalog (<https://catalog.southeasttech.edu/index.php>):

Course Recording Statement

Delivery of some courses at STC allows flexible participation options for students in time and location. Courses may be made available to properly enrolled students who are not physically in the classroom, and/or a time delayed recording made available to all properly enrolled students. In addition to instructional content, remote delivery may include capture of all classroom audio and visual happenings during designated class times, including that of students who may be part of the class, but who are not physically in the classroom. By remaining in classes capturing audio and visual happenings, you are agreeing to this statement.

Southeast Tech recognizes that sexual harassment includes harassment based on gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression and may occur regardless of the formal position or status of each person involved. Sexual harassment is especially offensive, however, when it occurs in relationship between an instructor and student or between supervisor and subordinate. In those situations, sexual harassment exploits unfairly the power inherent in the position of the faculty member or supervisor.

Sexual harassment also constitutes a form of sexual discrimination that is illegal under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Elementary/Secondary Education Act of 1972, as amended, and state law.
